ORIGAMI WASHBASIN

All design starts with a blank sheet of paper, some even ends with it. Origami washbasin ends with it, so that you can start designing your bathroom. As you can see Origami is inspired by something as simple as a folded blank sheet of paper. Made entirely from the material called Solid Surface, CreaCore, the white matt basin gives an individual look to the entire bathroom.

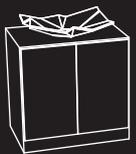

Origami is suitable both for a private market and public contexts as hotels or night clubs. The unusual style of Origami washbasin contrasts pleasantly with both - classic as well as with modern contemporary interiors. The sit-on model gives you more freedom of design in terms of placement both washbasin and faucet.

Origami Washbasin is designed by Gabriel Särkijärvi, We Think. We Think is a creative design company located in Gothenburg Sweden.
